In issuing the call to the General Conference, Mr. William R. Moody, the chairman said that "vague conjectures and speculation never make for strong convictions. In past generations our forefathers, while acknowledging that they only 'knew in part,' nevertheless were convinced of certain verities which strengthened their faith, challenged their service, for which they were even willing to die." "This undoubtedly led to evils in the exaggeration of non-essentials, and even to bigotry. Now in the reaction there is a tendency to a breadth which implies shallowness; to a spirit of comprehensiveness that sacrifices definite objective. This is clearly reflected in current writings; but as in government anarchy ensues where authority no longer exists, definite conviction is essential to constructive effort."

"In such an hour as this we may well ask ourselves if Christianity has a message for such an age. Are there eternal truths by which men can de-

Funds Coming In Salvation Army Appeal

The letters of appeal for support of the Salvation Army toward its goal named for the Northfield Fund have all been sent out and it is hoped that subscriptions will be sent in at once without further appeal. During the past week Secretary W. M. Horwood of the Chelsea, Mass., corps has been in town but owing to his limited stay could not visit all our citizens. Rev. Mr. Coe chairman of the local committee hopes that there will be a good response and that contributions be turned in to Mr. William F. Hoehn, Treasurer of the Fund at the Northfield National Bank. The local committee consists of Dr. W. W. Coe, Chairman, William F. Hoehn, Northfield National Bank, Treasurer; Dr. Henry F. Cutler, Grove W. Deming, Amherst, G. Moody, Mrs. Frank H. Montague, Rev. termines their course through life with perfect assurance? Convinced of the fact of sin, of the love of God and forgiveness through Christ, of communion with God and of that peace which passes understanding, we believe the church has a message for today.

"In issuing a call of a General Conference of Christian Workers at Northfield, July 31 to August 15 next we would seek to re-examine the foundations of Christian faith with a view of strengthening our convictions, awakening our sense of personal responsibility for service, and seeking the best means of bringing the knowledge of the gospel of our crucified, resurrected, and ever-living Christ to this age and urging his supreme claims upon the lives of men."

"To this end we would ask the prayerful co-operation of friends throughout the country in these coming days."

The final conference of the season is that of the Massachusetts Christian Endeavor Society, which convenes from August 15 to 22.

Accommodations or information for any of the conferences in dormitory, tent, or at The Northfield, may be arranged by writing to Albert G. Moody, East Northfield, Mass.

Mr. W. F. Nichols, assistant treasurer of the Northfield Schools at Kenard Hall will be given retirement at the end of the present school year after a long and faithful service of many years. In 1912 when the Northfield Schools were united into one corporation Mr. Nichols became comptroller, but in 1919 was confirmed as Assistant Treasurer, Mr. George McEwan succeeding to the office of Comptroller. He was born in Reading, Mass., in 1858 and after securing his early education entered the Bridgewater Normal School. His first engagement was teaching school at South Hanson, Mass., then he taught at Ware, Mass., and from there came to Mount Hermon. In 1889 he married Miss Lizzie Robinson a teacher at Mount Hermon who herself was a graduate of Northfield Seminary. They reside at Mount Hermon.

Mr. Nichols has also served the town of Gill as an assessor, selectman, school committee man and auditor at various times. He has been auditor from 1906 to 1932. "A Son Is Born"

On April 10th, 1932 a son Craig Smith was born to Alfred Henry and Isabel (Van Riper) Smith, at the Baker Memorial Hospital, Boston, Mass. As little Craig's birth occurred at 12.00 o'clock on Sunday, we like to think that his arrival came at the very moment his grandmother, Mrs. N. Fay Smith was listening to the benediction, by the Rev. W. Stanley Carne, at the Trinitarian Congregational Church, here in Northfield—where little Craig's grandfather, the late N. Fay Smith, served as pastor for eleven years.

William Craig of Virginia and Kentucky—and later, Illinois because of his Union favor—was the grandfather of Amy Bohme (Boehme) which was the maiden name of Mrs. N. Fay Smith. For this reason, she named her only daughter, Helen Craig. Thus, the name bestowed upon the little grandson last Sunday became a dual heritage, while aunt Helen—Mrs. Rodger Dakin of New York City—is delighted to share her Craig title with him.

Little Craig is a descendant on his mother's side, of the old Van Riper family of New York and a revolutionary descendant on his father's side. He is a nephew of Richard Fay Smith of Boston, and Ambert Fay Smith of East Northfield. He is also a grand-nephew of Mrs. Mount, of Birmam Road.

Mrs. Mount took the place of a mother to Mrs. Henry Smith, when, before her marriage, as a young girl, her own mother was taken away. Little Craig, has several other great-aunts and uncles on his grand-mother's side.

Counterfeit Bill Is Seen Hereabouts

Counterfeit bills are in circulation in Greenfield and nearby towns as is evidenced by their appearance and detection at the First National Bank & Trust Company of Greenfield.

There have been three of these bills presented to the bank within two weeks, all of the $10 variety of federal reserve notes of the New York district. The paper is almost identical with that which the government uses and the chief imperfection appears in the engraving of the head of Hamilton, where the left eye is indistinct. All the bills bear the serial number B 27723486A and are said to be the cleverest counterfeits which have appeared in Greenfield in recent years.

The president of the Northfield Bank has seen and studied one of these counterfeits to aid in checking up any appearing in this town.

EDITORIAL

Several politicians in Washington and elsewhere have lately given utterance to words and sentences in criticism of our worthy President and his ideals. The language is unbecomingly of sincere intellectual thought and sometimes common understanding. Sometimes we see editors of papers stooping to base statements to vilify. Largely such statements and criticisms come from some opposing political adherent whose rancor is not necessary and whose vitriolic speech is entirely uncalled for. Herbert Hoover is President of our nation, of all its people, (both Democrat and Republican) and other kindred and as such all citizens owe him an honored allegiance and support as our President. Espousing Democratic principles the editor of this paper protests against the slandering of any President while serving his people, be he Democrat or Republican. It seems that politics makes strange bed fellows but the truth is still evident that "as a man thinketh so is he." No public speaker or even newspaper writer ever made any friends by that damnable policy of "mud slinging" and character destruction. May we always honor and esteem the President of our United States.

The parish of the Unitarian Congregational church having solved its problem of a settled minister since the resignation of the Rev. Mr. Conner, are expressing with friends their satisfaction in the acceptance of the full pastorate by Rev. Mary Andrews Conner who has supplemented her husband's efforts during the past year. Mrs. Conner is a tireless worker, active and aggressive and it is just such people that Northfield needs both in pew and pulpit to lead in activities for more unselfish purposes. Mrs. Conner is an able pastor and speaker. She has served with appreciation congregations in both the East and West. A graduate of the University of Chicago, she is reinforced with a high sense of intellectual endeavor and The Herald wishes her and her parish every expectant joy in the ministry of service.

The use of the radio for advertising purposes is causing some alarm in the newspaper field and perhaps being taken too seriously. True it may seem like rivalry to some but up to date it is still a question of value in its relation to the published word. Radio is quicker but its word not so certain. To get the picture of a complete message or story the eye and the brain must both be appealed to as well as anxious hearing. Radio may give the hint or the suggestion and the newspaper convey the lesson so that each may supplement the other. However the opinion of the public will determine matters and it seems thus far that but little damage has been inflicted upon the press. The public use the radio for pleasure and enjoyment and already complaints are being made of too much tooth paste, cosmetics, dog food, wearing apparel and what not. Tuning in the best and tuning out the worst is the habit of listeners nowadays. Enjoyment of real music and song is the first appeal of the radio but the press will continue to be the convincing and certain medium on its positive message to the people.

The Poet's Corner

SUGAR MAKING

Have you sensed the springtime coming
Through the slopes and northern hills,
Where there's old time country farming
Mid those rugged rocks and rills?

In the yard there stands the wood-pile

Showing winter's work is o'er,
And old Sol begins his climbing
There's his shadow on the door.

Come with me upon the hillside
To the place we know so well,
Here's the sugar bush extending
From the summit to the dell.

The sun shines through the tree tops
And the sap begins to run,
We shall soon fill up the barrels
Boil it down— and C, what fun!

Smoke ascending from the chimney
And a sweetness in the air,
Tell of sugar in the making
And good times with maidens fair.

I shall always smell that sweetness
In my heart's the same old joy,
As I live those days of rapture
That I cherished as a boy.

UNCLE SI REVIEWS THE SERMON

Mandy, you orter gone to church,
Yes, I know you're teeth was achin',
You should of heard the parson preach.

He give them all a rakin'.
He took his text, from the Holy Book,
Them words you'll sure remember.
'Bout tongues bein' like hell fire,
Though 'twas a little member.

The parson says he'd not uphold,
Them what was really sinnin',
But gossipin' he'd try to stop.
'Gainst honest men and wimmin.
He says we didn't stop to think
What our gossip might be doin',
Sometimes, 'twould stir a whole town up.

And start 'em all a-chewin'.

Members of the Lord's own fold,
Must stop their thotless tattlin',
For Satan of 'em gits a hold,
By settin' tongues a-rattlin'.
He read then 'bout that firm command

To never bear false witness.
We'd better hunt our hearts and see
If we had Christian fitness.

He read too 'bout that Pharisee
What scorned the other feller
And thanked the Lord that he was good.

When really, he was yeller.
Now there's them awful measley folks
That notes is always findin'
In other peoples' eyes, when them
The beam is wholly blindin'.

The Sewin' Circle, gabbed too much
'Bout all their friends and neighbors,
They'd better spend their strength and time,

A-doin' needed labors.
He says we gossiped of emtimes
Because we'd been in blindness,
We'd better wash our tongues and eyes

With milk of human kindness.

Sometimes a word that just slipped out,
Would spoil a reputation,
We orter read the Bible more
For pious education.

I looked aroun' to see who's there
Most ev'ryone was flushin',
The preacher sure did hit 'em hard,
With shame them folks was blushin',
And me? O yes, I took it too,
I do some all fired talkin',
But never thot it was a sin,
Till the parson spoke so shockin'.
I put five dollars in the plate
They passed for the collection,
Thot I'd start tongue and pocket book

A-goin' the right direction!

THE BERKSHIRES

See Housatonic's waters whirling
A silver thread beneath the blue.
Through the land of ancient legends
Always old, yet ever new.
Glittering lakes beyond the hilltops
Where the air is cool and clear,
Murmuring brooks that whisper stories

In the western maiden's ear,
That she carries when returning
O'er the arid scorching plains
To the land of rolling sand-dunes
Where the fever racks the brain.
Through this land of transformations
As it did in days of yore,
And its waters still reflecting
Pictures from the planet's floor,

Moon-lit scenes when all is silent
Save the whisperings of the night
Then those swiftly moving shadows
Intercept the silvery light.

Through the land of ancient warriors,
Men of justice and of truth,
Driven to earth like beasts ill-treated,
But the country still has youth.

Who can tell the joys afforded
By those hills of just renown
Pleasures here for untold ages,
And we've claimed them for our own.

Chirping voice of birds and insects
Cheer the heart of toiling man,
Then the lowing of the cattle,
Then the bleating of the lamb.

A change comes o'er the Berkshires
When the bees have gone to hive,
And the wind will puff and fidget
Where the cricket's scarce alive.

We have seen those sloping woodlands
Decked in beauties living green;
Now we see them changing, changing,
What a transformation scene.

Mrs. Moody Honored;
Mission Society Elects

Mrs. Ambert G. Moody of East Northfield was elected president of the Franklin county district women's department of the Massachusetts Congregational Missionary society, at the annual meeting Tuesday in the Second Congregational church at Greenfield. She succeeds Mrs. Henry F. Cutler of Mount Hermon, whose retirement from office after a two-year term was regretted by the members.

Mrs. Arthur W. Hubbard of Sunderland was chosen vice-president; Mrs. Fred W. Wells, Greenfield, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Arthur L. Truesdell, Bernardston, recording secretary; Mrs. Fred A. Holton, East Northfield, treasurer.

The morning session opened with devotional exercises by Mrs. Hubbard. Mrs. Nellie O. Bascom gave the welcome address. Mrs. Mary Carver of Boston, project secretary of the state society, talked on "Home Missions" and later in the morning conducted a round table discussion. Reports and election of officers occupied the remainder of the session.

Luncheon was served by the Yansy club of the church. The afternoon session was opened with devotions led by Mrs. E. B. Robinson of Holyoke. Mrs. Marion M. Hale of Greenfield sang solos and the address of the afternoon was given by Rev. John Bicknell of Jaffna college, Ceylon. A prayer service conducted by Mrs. E. F. Blackmer of Montague closed the program.

Directors elected for the coming year included Mrs. Truesdell, Bernardston; Mrs. E. M. Dwight of Colrain; Mrs. A. P. Fitt and Mrs. George K. Carter, Greenfield; Miss Abbie Billings, Orange; Mrs. F. A. Stebbins, Millers Falls; Mrs. E. F. Blackmer, Montague; Mrs. Hubbard, Sunderland; Mrs. George Sanderson, Whately.

During the noon recess the new executive committee met and appointed the following chairmen: Mrs. Charles G. White, Millers Falls, children's work; Mrs. Deming, Mount Hermon, young people; Mrs. Lawrence H. Lazzelle, East Northfield, handwork; Mrs. Vincent, Deerfield, literature.

Many See The New Ford

The showing of the new Ford car has interested many callers at Spencer Brothers Garage and it was accorded an enthusiastic reception. It seems as if everyone was much pleased and that it measured up to expectations as not a word of criticism was uttered. Already several advance orders have been placed and it is expected that deliveries will begin very soon. The car sent here to Northfield for display has been sent to another agency for showing and in its place will come probably Friday one of the fine sedans. With its coming demonstrations will be arranged for Mr. Ross L. Spencer stated to a Herald representative that he is more than pleased with the favorable attitude shown toward the new car.

Bad Auto Accident
At Bernardston

Traveling toward Northfield to Keene a party of five autoists enroute from Washington, D. C., were passing through Bernardston early Tuesday morning when in front of the Wyatt grocery, the big sedan began to skid and headed into a large pole in front of the Unitarian Church, breaking the pole off at the base and quite demolishing the sedan. In the car were Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Brussi and Mrs. L. W. Loos of Keene and Mrs. H. L. Darby of Washington. All were quite badly hurt by being thrown and cut against the glass. Mr. Arthur Truesdell who was awakened by the crash took the injured at once in his car to the home of Dr. A. H. Wright where their injuries were dressed and then on to Keene their destination. The State Police were notified and investigated.

Week's Heavy Rains
Cause High Water

The heavy rains of the past week has deluged the country side and the waters of rivers and brooks have been running wild. Everywhere it seems as if the lowlands were flooded and the Connecticut river is overflowing its banks. While no reports of serious damage has come yet a watchful eye has been kept everywhere. It is said that a peak of 76,000 cubic feet a second has poured over the Turners Falls dam where the wash boards were swept aside. The surface of the river is turbulent in this section and large quantities of driftwood and debris is being carried along by the water.

Moody Is War Like
In Finding For Peace

Last week the War Chaplain's Association met in New York city for an annual meeting and among those attending was Rev. Paul Dwight Moody and now President of Middlebury College. He had served as a Chaplain during the World War and was a member of the Chaplain's Board. He addressed the assembled guests and his peace ideals as reported are expressed in the following way: "Peace does not mean the negative thing which the pacifists represent it to be.

"Nor is war the supreme evil. The servant of the prince of peace is the servant of good will, a much greater thing. My quarrel with the pacifist is his puny, anemic definition of peace. Good will will prevent a state of mind that leads to war. There is a better thing than settling disputes. It is the creating of an atmosphere where disputes cannot arise."

Warner Baxter in "AMATEUR DADDY" with Marion Nixon and "CROSS EXAMINATION," with
H. B. Warner — Sally Blane — Natalie Moorehead — Edmund Breese

Thrills, action, excitement and romance are part of the daily existence of film stars; but now and again a story comes along that intermingles these qualities so closely and so rapidly that even a veteran player must call upon every faculty at his command to handle the role.

Such a story is "Amateur Daddy." During its filming, Baxter, was called upon to perform no less than eight dramatic episodes, each of which was attended with extreme personal danger.

First, as a construction engineer, Baxter is seen in an accident which sweeps him from a steel girder high above the floor of a mountain canyon.

Following the accident, in which his best friend is killed, Baxter goes to the little town of Scotch Valley, in California, to care for the orphaned children of his friend. There he finds their little ranch the object of a despicable neighbor's avarice, and his arrival leads inevitably to a fight in which he demonstrates his flinty ability.

As a reprisal for his physical defeat, David Landau, who portrays the neighbor, next resorts to a bomb to blow up the ranch's irrigation canal. The filming of this scene called for Baxter to be within range of the falling debris, a ticklish enough spot for anyone despite the extreme car which studio technicians employ in the use of explosives.

Landau then stirs up mob hatred against Baxter that ends with a masked group of infuriated neighbors taking Baxter to a near-by field where they tie him to a tree and proceed to horsewhip him.

This brings on the tense dramatic climax of the picture, which includes a stirring court battle and a shooting affray in which Baxter is involved.

"Cross Examination" described by its producers as "a master love mystery," is Arthur Hoerl's own adaptation of his well-known novel, "Blood and Diamonds," which was serialized recently by the Hearst newspapers throughout the country.

The story is unfolded through the unusual medium of a murder trial, with David Wells on trial for killing his father. As each witness tells his story the screen pictures his testimony.

In addition to the five stars, each with a longer list of well-remembered successes to his credit, there are several others of unusual talent. Outstanding, perhaps, among these is Sarah Padden, who seems destined to stardom since the recent announcement that she will be featured in the title role of Frank Borzage's next special production, "The Gold Star other."

"THE BROKEN WING"

Lupe Velez — Leo Carrillo — Melvin Douglas and "SCANDAL FOR SALE" with
Pat O'Brien — oRee Hobart — Charles Bickford

Leo Carrillo, stage star for many seasons in "Lombardi, Ltd." re-enacts his stage role in Paramount's filmization of "The Broken Wing."

As the swaggering bandit who holds captive the aviator forced down near his camp, Carrillo joins Lupe Velez and Melvyn Douglas, who have important parts in the cast.

Carrillo, who has been dividing his time between the screen and stage, recently closed his engagement in the sag version of "The Broken Wing" at San Francisco, after having played to a long run in Hollywood.

Noted for his work in dialect characterizations, Carrillo has been a stage star for many years, his biggest hit having been "Lombardi, Ltd." He recently entered talking films and has just completed the "bad man" role opposite Dolores Del Rio in "The Dove." Preceding this work were parts in "Hell Bound," "The Homicide Squad," "The Guilty Generation," "Lasca of the Rio Grande" and "Race Track."

James Cagney — "THE CROWD ROARS" — Joan Blondell

What young film star is fast-moving enough to need a racing car as a starring "vehicle"? Why, James Cagney, of course! "Taxi" wasn't high-powered enough for him—now you'll see him as the terror of the speedways in "The Crowd Roars."

Made to order for Cagney's talents, "The Crowd Roars" is the story of a daredevil driver who lives a hectic life both on and off the track, yet hopes to keep his adoring younger brother from following in his steps. As you might expect, Mr. Cagney's actions have more influence than his words, and he is none too successful as a censor of youthful morals. Stubborn in his attempts to direct other folks' lives, he ends by breaking with the girl he loves and finally with his brother. Half-crazed with anger after the break, Cagney drives in a race, wrecks the car of his best friend and kills him. After this accident—a breath-taking scene on the screen — Cagney's career seems over. Even his iron nerve is gone, and he finds himself unable to secure even a mechanic's job.

Here, however, is a hero who may be down but never out. It would be telling too much to say just how the comeback is managed, but the happy ending gives Cagney one more break on the Indianapolis Speedway, scene of his former triumphs. And for Mr. Cagney, just one break is enough.

Cagney's acting and the original story are two good reasons for seeing "The Crowd Roars." Another big inducement is the fact that a dozen famous racing drivers helped make the speedway scenes, and filled them with nerve-racking thrills.

Well Known Man

Shows Real Humanity

The Orange Journal prints this story of a well known man with many friends in Northfield that we consider worthy of a reprint.

When Abram Roseberry, former well known Erving man and brother of Selectman George Roseberry, was returning from his work in Athol to his home in Millers Falls, Tuesday evening, he noticed a small animal on the side of the road near the forestry reserve. He stopped his car and discovered that it was a little bull dog which was in an emaciated condition as the result of exposure and lack of food. Its ribs were "sticking out" as if the dog had fared rather badly and in its head were many porcupine quills. A harness on the dog indicated that it was someone's pet and it was apparent that it was well bred. Mr. Roseberry put the animal in his car and took it home. Mr. and Mrs. Roseberry did what they could to make it comfortable and were about to take it to a Greenfield veterinary when it occurred to them that they had recently seen a lost-dog advertisement in a newspaper. They found the ad which was inserted by Bert Starkey of West Main street, Orange. They tried to get in touch with the Starkeys without avail but a neighbor told them they had gone to Erving in search of the animal which had been missing nine days and which they had been told had been seen near the forestry reserve. However, the neighbor drove to Millers Falls and took the little pet home, turning it over later to Mr. Starkey. The dog had been in the woods during last week Monday's storm and since then, apparently finding it as hard to get something to eat as many people have found it during this depression period. Mr. Starkey removed the quills and gave the dog nourishment with the result that it is apparently recovering from its unfortunate experience. A bulldog in the woods is said to be about as helpless as a couple of "babes in the wood."

There's Nothing New Under the Sun

Twenty-eight years ago the first electric range for the home appeared—but even before then food had been cooked electrically, so the old adage was confirmed, "There's nothing new under the sun!"

Twenty-eight years of steady progress has brought electric cookery to new peaks of perfection... to a new ease and economy of operation.

Home makers enjoy the simplicity of electric cookery... the leisure it gives them... its cleanliness... and its many other modern advantages.

Let us tell you more about the electric range—how its automatic controls take full charge of the oven—how its speedy flexibility makes cooking a pleasure!

Bolton Movies Shown

The Bolton family reunion of last summer was shown in moving pictures in the Barber district school house last Saturday evening. This family of 90 members have held annual reunions for several years, just over the line in New Hampshire where the original homestead stood. Many of them now however, are residents of Northfield. Some one conceived the idea of recording their reunions into a moving picture, without the other members knowing when it was being done. This idea was successfully carried out by Mr. Edward Reed. To see themselves in last Saturday's exhibit was indeed a pleasure to all. We are wondering if the Bolton's may be induced to contribute a pleasant evening for Northfield people, by letting us have their movies here.

Just "greasing" isn't enough. We must lubricate every moving part thoroughly and correctly. The Morgan Garage.

The Northfield Star

The Northfield Star, the organ of the Northfield Seminary students for the past year published in newspaper fashion has made a sudden leap for fame, when in New York at the Conference of School Publications, it was recognized and received a third place. This is a good beginning and accords recognition of its Editorial Board. The Herald extends its felicitations. The last number just issued and distributed to its readers is well edited.

The Hermonite

Another issue of The Hermonite came from the press last Saturday and deserves commendation. It is ably edited and well printed. Recently at a meeting of the Columbia Scholastic Press Conference held in New York city it was announced "The Hermonite" had been awarded a second place in its class for preparatory school newspapers. In the past, for some reason or other, the school paper has always been grouped with the smaller high schools; this year, however, the paper was judged along with others from the largest preparatory schools in the country. The Herald extends its congratulations to The Hermonite.

Last Play Given

Last Friday at Greenfield the final play "The Secret Garden" was given by the Children's Theatre Company and was attended by the usual number of children from Northfield. The various plays were given throughout the winter season and were much enjoyed by all who attended. In planning for attendance throughout the County the Northfield district was represented by Mrs. W. G. Webber on the Committee who did her share in making the effort a success. The giving of such a series is doubtful for next year. Mrs. Hatch the chairman of the committee in charge says: "While the plays have been most successful from the children's standpoint, the difficulty of financing the undertaking in a depression year has been a strain on the committee. However, should the demand be sufficient, a 'tremendous effort' will be made to finance the plays."

The Seniors Trip:
Washington Was Enjoyed

The Washington trip is over. The class of '32 accompanied by Miss Lawley and Miss Mann left East Northfield station at 6:15 Saturday morning, April 2. We arrived at Grand Central in New York about noon. From there a sight-seeing trip began—5th Avenue, Riverside Drive, Grant's Tomb, Broadway, Wall St., the Aquarium, to Penn Station. At 7:30 we arrived in Washington, and took a bus to the Arlington Hotel which was to be our home while in the city.

Sunday morning some of us got up early and attended the 6 o'clock services at St. Patrick's church. We were back at the hotel by seven and had breakfast a little later. At 8:30 we started on a sight-seeing tour—the guide pointing out the various embassies and explaining the different statues on the way. Our first stop was at the St. Francis Monastery where we saw reproductions of the shrines of the Holy Land. The garden is a replica of the garden of Gethsemane. The Mt. St. Albans Cathedral which we next visited is still under construction and it is a huge building. The zoo was a very interesting place and hours could easily be spent there but we had only twenty minutes.

After dinner we went to the Washington monument. There are only 900 steps in it so you can see why we didn't walk both ways. The view from the top wasn't all we had anticipated as it was a hazy day. The Lincoln Memorial came next. This building houses a huge statue of Lincoln which in spite of its size seems almost to be alive. In the Red Cross building there were miniature reproductions of scenes where the Red Cross has helped such as battlefields and flood areas. There was an ambulance that had been used during the war. We next visited the Corcoran Art Gallery.

In the evening we went to the Congressional library. The interior is beautiful with much mosaic work. There are many interesting old manuscripts there.

On Monday, April 4, after breakfast we left by bus on a sight-seeing tour. We went to the Bureau of Printing & Engraving where a guide conducted us through the building and we saw stamps and paper money of all denominations being printed.

Next we visited the Pan-American Building which is very beautifully and artistically decorated. In the center of the building is a patio filled with numerous tropical plants with a fountain in the center.

From here we went to the Smithsonian Institute and saw Lindy's plane, "The Spirit of St. Louis" and a thousand and one other items of particular interest. From there we went to the National Museum where we saw many stuffed animals, birds, and fish. We also saw many Indian exhibits, different minerals and gems. Here, there was a very wonderful collection of old pianos.

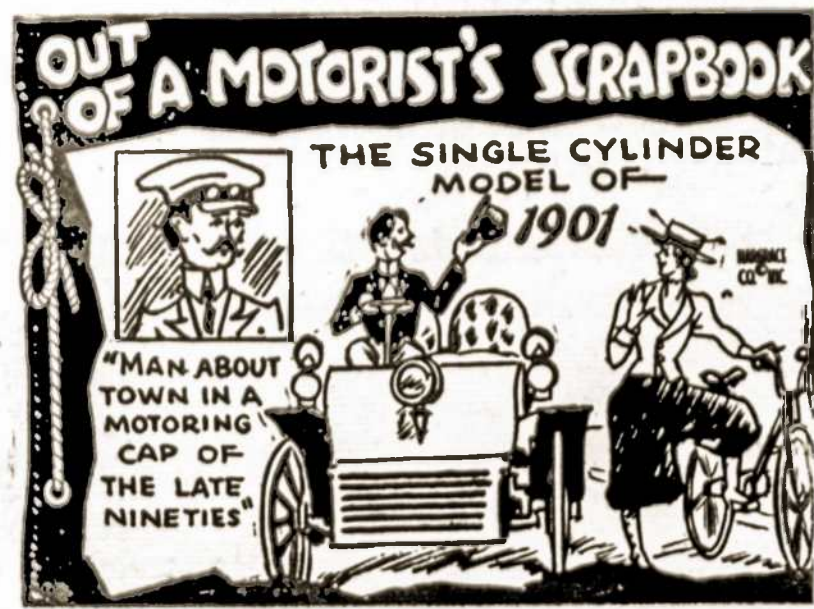

The Capitol, the most interesting of all, was next visited. We were conducted through by a guide who pointed out paintings, statues, historical spots, and rooms of particular interest. We visited both Houses of Congress which were not in session. We had to leave before either body went into session to go to the White House, the home of the President and his wife. Here we were allowed to see the East Room in which is the gilded piano. Downstairs or in the entry we saw a few rooms in which were kept some of the sets of china; furniture; and utensils used by previous presidents.

From here we were taken back to the Hotel for lunch. The afternoon was open and four boys went back and saw both Houses in session and discussing matters of great interest. Some went back to the zoo in which we visited Sunday and some went shopping. Monday night half of the party went to a movie and the other half went to a play.

Tuesday morning all arose early for the last day in Washington. There was nothing special planned for the morning. After dinner we started on our trip to Mount Vernon. Our first stop was at the Arlington National Cemetery. We went through the Lee Mansion, then to the Arlington Amphitheatre where we saw the tomb of the unknown soldier. It was very impressive to see the guard walking back and forth before this tomb—stopping just so many minutes and taking just so many steps across the way. After Arlington, we went to Christ Church and the Masonic Hall at Alexandria. We even sat in the pew where Washington sat when he went to church. Then came Mount Vernon with its beautiful grounds and house. The house looks exactly like the pictures of it that one sees so often. An interesting part of the trip was the ride back up the Potomac by boat. Most of us sat on the top deck in order not to miss a thing that was going on.

In the evening we went to the movies. Wednesday morning at eleven we left the Hotel for the station. We had dinner as soon as we got on the train. On the way home as on the way down we had a private car—maybe that didn't make us feel important! If someone got in by mistake, the conductor would politely ask him to move and although we did hear someone remark that they wouldn't want to stay in the "kindergarten car," it really made us feel as if we were quite somebody to have a car all to ourselves. We came through New York and over Hell Gate Bridge and didn't have to change until New Haven. Another change at Northampton and then home at 10:30 tired, but happy! but thankful and appreciative of the wonderful trip to Washington.

The following are the members of the Senior class. Frank Huber, Kenneth Leach, Myron Johnson, Raymond Kervian, Alfred Lallie, Glenn Billings, Esther Zachryba, Amelia Urganiewicz, Dorothy Quinlan, Alicia Repeta, Eunice Woodbury, Elsie Tenney, Anna Sazawa, Esther Havercroft, Mary Podlenski, Helen Urganiewicz, Grace Randall, Mary Breinig, Eveline Haven, Monica Szeszowski, Edna Bistrek, Helen Szeszowski.

THEN: There were many impractical things about a car. When you spent your money you were uncertain of getting full value.

NOW: You are CERTAIN of getting value received for every penny of every dollar when you invest in one of the new Ford cars from SPENCER BROTHERS. Dependability in the purchase transaction, in financing and in the service policy.

South Church Notes

The message last Sunday morning was on "The Call of the Present Century," and was from David Starr Jordan, late head of Leland Stanford University — a masterly utterance, characterizing the present century as strenuous, complex and democratic. As to the latter, it was stated that "for the few the race should live" is a discarded motto of another age. In the present, the few live for the many. "It is to bring about the larger equalities of opportunity, or purpose, that we exalt the talents of the few."

The theme of the minister for next Sunday will be "A Parable of the Spring, or the Fountain of Life and Happiness."

In the absence of Mrs. Conner who was in Greenfield taking the service and speaking in All Souls Unitarian Church in the morning of last Sunday, Mrs. Robert Wilder taught in the church school the class of girls.

At the annual meeting of the Women's Alliance with Mrs. George N. Kidder, Thursday afternoon, April 7th the full number of officers for the ensuing year were not elected, and the complete report will be made later. The subject for consideration was one of a series of three on Russia. Mrs. Robert Wilder gave a fine talk on "Old Russia."

The Junior Alliance met on Monday afternoon, the 11th, the guests of Mrs. H. H. Chamberlain.

Quite a number of our young people attended the Young People's Missionary Rally at Sunderland last Sunday afternoon and evening in the Congregational Church. Mrs. Grove Deming of Mount Hermon was on the committee of arrangements. In the afternoon Rev. John Bicknell of Leyden was the speaker and the address in the evening was by Rev. John Bicknell of Jaffna College, Ceylon.

At the services last Sunday, morning and evening, the Pastor preached both sermons to a large appreciative audience. The musical part of the service by the choir in the morning and the musical numbers by the young people in the evening were all well rendered.

The Community Club will hold their regular fortnightly dance at Northfield Town Hall, Saturday night, April 16th. Music by Jilson's Orchestra.—Adv. E. O. W.—5-29-32.
